ST. LOUIS WELCOMES NEW ARMY OFFICERS

Twelve St. Louisans Among Men Commissioned at Camp Dodge, Fort DeMoines

Imposing Parade A Feature of Reception Here. More Than Fifty Officers in Line.

St. Louis paid homage to more than fifty newly commissioned colored officers of the United States Army, Tuesday and another chapter has been written in the history of its colored citizens. This time it tells of an event without a precedent, an occurrence that may never again be repeated.

The men were on leave of absence, returning to their homes from Camp Dodge, Fort De Moines, where they had been training for months, learning and receiving their commissions. As honored citizens, they had, four months previously, bid adieu to their relatives and friends and now were returning as stalwart officers of the United States Army. Twelve of the number were St. Louisans, the others had stopped over to accept the commission in the city. They were received at Union Station by several hundred citizens headed by the following committee: Walter Moore, chairman; Ernest Peetle; Horatio T. Meadows, W. M. Webb; W. H. Fields, G. C. Robinson; De D. W. Scott, Charles W. Turpin; Dr. T. A. Curtis; Dr. Frank Lavine; H. E. W. Green; George Phillips, J. M. Wall; C. W. Green; Eugene Johnson, Chas. C. Miles; Capt. Kurt; Capt. Shufeldt; L. E. Williams and Ernest L. Morris.

The men arrived in two Pullman coaches on the Wabash shortly after 9 a.m. After they had checked their bags, the committee headed by Horatio T. Meadows, city editor of the St. Louis Argus and Walter Moore, followed by a band, the visiting officers, officers of the Medical reserve, members of the committee and citizens in automobiles in the order named. The line of march was east over Cassouto to Forest Park to Main Street, then to Forest Park to Pershing, then to Jefferson, Lawton to Looffingwell, to Lawton, to Compton to Lawton where the guests were breakfasted at the Kreystone Cafe. The parade was imposing. The orderly bearing of the distinguished officers was the signal for indomitable enthusiasm. The marchers were permitted to give them the right of way, policemen and civilians who recognized the rank of the men saluted them as they passed. There was cheering, not boisterous, but typical of the kind that has greeted all military demonstrations in St. Louis during the past few months. St. Louis is thinking, with a serenity that does not permit of much outward demonstration. However, St. Louis was proud of the new officers and such remarks as "Ain't They Fine," "There Go Our Boys" etc., were frequently heard.

After breakfast, several of the visiting officers made a trip to Summer High School where they were received and directed through the building by Prof. Frank L. Baker.

A reception was tendered at the Tynan Hall Auditorium in the evening, but most of the visiting officers were compelled to leave before the large audience assembled. Attorney Homer G. Phillips presided and short speeches were made by Capt. Tandy, Rev. Par and Mr. Hudlin. Remarks on experience in the service were made by Capt. G. C. Morris.

The committee desires to thank the owners of automobile and all citizens who assisted in making the welcome a success. Arrangements were necessarily hurriedly made and there was little time to plan a larger demonstration.

Onward, boys, onward.

A little more than four months ago, the United States War Department recruited St. Louisans to receive commissions at Camp Dodge, Fort De Moines, Iowa. Six Hundred and Twenty-Five Captains and Lieutenants Will Report Nov. 1.

called upon the Negro citizens to furnish men to be trained for officers in the new army. The response was overwhelming. St. Louis alone offered more than ten times its quota. The government's call was for the most intelligent men of the race, within a certain age limit, college graduates preferred. The Negroes responded to the call at Camp Dodge, Fort De Moines, Iowa, of a draft composed of 1245 of the signs of Negro manhood, consisting of business and professional men and educators from all parts of the country.

632 Receive Commissions

These brave volunteers were required to undergo a year's course in training to receive many benefits, including a few unpleasant incidents, to acquire the technical knowledge of modern warfare and to complete the course qualified to command and instruct others, in four months. Although under ordinary conditions this training would have required at least two years, the men selected for this commissioning were to be trained in six months. On Aug. 22, 625 of them were commissioned. Of the 625, 104 were made Captains, 302 First Lieutenants and 210 Second Lieutenants.

Prior to the declaration of war with Germany, the United States army had 2000 colored officers. After the entry of the United States into the war, the number of colored officers increased to 10,000.

A reception was tendered at the Tynan Hall Auditorium in the evening, but most of the visiting officers were compelled to leave before the large audience assembled. Attorney Homer G. Phillips presided and short speeches were made by Capt. Tandy, Rev. Par and Mr. Hudlin. Remarks on experience in the service were made by Capt. G. C. Morris.

The committee desires to thank the owners of automobile and all citizens who assisted in making the welcome a success. Arrangements were necessarily hurriedly made and there was little time to plan a larger demonstration.

Onward, boys, onward.

The St. Louis Branch of the N. A. A. C. The future safety of the Colored people throughout the United States depends upon the nation being taught that arrest, trial, conviction and punishment shall be the portion of those who assail persons because they are Colored, as surely as such assault is made.

Colored people alone can give this lesson. We are giving it now and it shall be given most thoroughly; but we must have the help we are here asking for.

To this date, $1,067.00 has been contributed for this purpose and $450.00 has been expended. Attorneys, detectives and court fees and other expense create need for a total of 15,000.00.

We earnestly ask prompt, and exhaustive effort for redress and correction.

THEATRES

HIGH CLASS SHOW AT THE
WASHINGTON THEATRE
THIS WEEK

Transportation troubles again interfered with the Booker Washington theatre booking this week; only two of the advertised acts turning in time to open Monday night. Fate was kinder to the patrons, than on previous occasions, for it enabled Mr. Turpin to secure a high class white act, which added variety to the bill, filling out a program that is well above the average and delighting crowded houses night after night.

Russell's Dancing Models, a white act, and the "Dixie" girls, a black novelty, "Visions of Splendor," staged with their own special scenery and electrical effects. The act opens with a balcony, "Visions of Spain," set in a tropical scene. The next number is "Spirit of the Tempest," presenting a beautiful dance on a large white globe amid scenes of lightning and tropical foliage. The third number, "Dance is next given and the act closes with a transformation scene, "Visions de Art," which is a series of beautiful poses representing famous paintings, the originals of which are worth many hundred thousand dollars. Acts of this class are seldom seen in small houses.

The Frisco Four, two men and two women, are a musical comedy combination with a punch. In their singing harmony is featured and their numbers call for round after round of applause.

After opening with "Dixie," the company does a "Honolulu" dance that is modest and pretty. The next is "Alabama Jubilee," the company looking gaily in autumn colors. The "Alabama" dance is next given and the act closes with a musical comedy number.

The Frisco Four, with harmony and humor closes the first part of the act.

The second part is a musical comedy entitled, "Was St. Peter a Colored Man?"

It is an operatic comedy sketch, replete with good singing, sarcasm, wit and dancing. A lively song and dance finale is a glorious climax to the act which is a definite climax to the entire program.

The Frisco Four, with a soft voice and a rich contralto voice, is a footloose, care of rare quality. She sings, "Some One More Lonesome Than You," with an interlude recitation; "The Sunshine of Your Smile," and "Oh, Johnny." In the latter she impersonates different national characters in their versions of the lingo ditty. She likes to appear, being frequently interrupted by outbursts of pent up enthusiasm.

Alexa Burke opens the show with a triple of song numbers and a rest of rapid fire gags. His closing piece, "When the Twilight Comes to Kiss the Rose Goodnight," is a beautiful melody well sung.

NEXT WEEK

Another big show is promised at the Booker Washington Theatre next week. On the bill will be Doc Strain and Miss Ford, in a singing and dancing act; Sidney Kirkpatrick, in a musical comedy act; and the "Dixie" girls.

The most interesting act is "The Mystery of the Iron Claw,"

a dramatic, musical, wonder-and one other big act.

The first episode of "The Red Ace," will be shown on Monday night, the 15th episode of

"The Grey Ghost,"

Wednesday, and the "Voice on the Wind," on Friday.

Sunday, Oct. 21
